

Glad you're here. We'd love to answer your questions.

Our process is simple we have you fill out a quick form that tells us a little about you. Then, you choose a time for us to talk. We call it an interview, but it is a two-way conversation about what you are looking for, what we are looking for in our teammates. It is as informal as you need it to be and allows us to talk to seriously interested people.

We want to give you our undivided attention and answer anything you need to know. So, push the green button to set up a time for us to chat. Need more? We encourage you to watch the videos, check out the www.sfglife.com site and the www.workwithsymmetry.com page.

Looking forward to meeting you!
